N.C. Wyeth was a painter. He is known most for his paintings of classic children’s stories such as Treasure Island and King Arthur.

N.C. had five children. Three of them grew up to be painters, too. Henriette painted pictures of people. Carolyn painted pictures of the land by her house.

Andrew was often sick when he was a child. He stayed home from school. N.C. taught Andrew how to paint. Andrew painted pictures of people. He also painted pictures of places around his home. He is now the most famous painter in the family.

Andrew had two children. Can you guess what his son Jamie grew up to be? Yes, there is another painter in the Wyeth family! Jamie paints pictures of animals and people.
